2023

Travel Consulting Services

Thank you for being here!

Who are we?

Hi friend! We are Maddy and Seth Madej. In 2019 we ditched our 9-5 corporate jobs on a $300 one way flight to China and traveled to 23 countries in 6 months. Fast forward to today, we are full time jet-setters passionate about exploring every inch of this earth. We love adventure in any form and prefer cheap beer and backpacks over champagne and caviar. We are just two easygoing and fun-loving people who strive to make connections all around the world.

What do we do?

The Jet Lag Journey is an online destination that addresses difficult travel questions in order to make worldwide travel practical and accessible. We have become trip planning gurus over the years and want to share that knowledge with you! We truly believe in working smarter, not harder when planning adventures so there is more time for leisure. Life is stressful enough, let us help you make travel planning easy, fun and exciting!

TEAMWORK MAKES THE DREAM WORK

We would love to work together to organize and execute your dream travel plans. In order to make the most out of our partnership, we will need full commitment from you to achieve your goals. We promise to provide you with the same service and value we would ourselves when planning our own travel adventures.

Here are a few of our core values, do you agree?

Obsessed with building our dream life

Known to catch flights and feelings

Happy hour is always a good idea, especially if it's 2 for 1s

There is no wrong way to travel, it's only wrong to judge

In constant search of the top tier travel hacks and products

Everything we need can fit in a backpack

Thank you for your consideration!

Let's make some magic happen.

LET'S COLLABORATE!
